The first arrival at the new Hebrew colony at Cook's Corner is now enjoying life there, having moved there from Boston this week. It is expected that others will be moving to this colony during the next few weeks and by the first of July there will be a large summer population there.