

Several young men, employed at the Texas Company and the Iron Works have formed a club, the "Happy Twenty," and have already had four meetings. Sunday evening they met at the home of Arthur Miller, Middle St., and planned for a dance to be given in the near future at the Armory.

---