Riva Civia Greenblatt Has Excellent Record During High School Course

Miss Riva Civia Greenblatt, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon K. Greenblatt, 233 Washington street, and sixth in her family to graduate from Morse High school, entered the freshman class of Gorham State Teachers' college Monday. Miss Greenblatt was graduated in June as valedictorian of her class at Morse High school, the second in her family to attain that honor and that of election to the National Honor society, to which she was elected in her junior year. At graduation Miss Greenblatt was awarded the English prize annually by the Bath High School Alumni association.

While a senior Miss Greenblatt served as editor of both Morse Mentor, school paper, and the year book, an accomplished pianist, played in the school orchestra, and was also prominent in the affairs of the Latin club. She was responsible for much of the poster work advertising activities at Morse. As a junior she won first prize in the Lincoln Essay contest. During part of her high school career Miss Greenblatt served as student reporter for The Times.

Miss Greenblatt is the second in her family to attend Gorham. A sister, Mrs. Isadore Singer, nee Bessie F. Greenblatt, former principal of Weeks street school, is a graduate of that institution.

Six sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Greenblatt have been graduated from Morse High school and their youngest son, Owen Lee, entered the eighth grade at Central Grammar last week.
