

Harris:

I received a call today from the new Chair of Bnai Portland, a Synagogue without walls. He wanted to touch base to inquire about the exhibit.

We (Jess) had forward this along to you back in March when it came in. I gave him your phone and email info to continue the talk.

When you do the next phase of the project with current synagogues perhaps there can be an inclusion/mention of Bnai Portland even though they do not have a building.

Please do expect a communication from him.

Hope you are well...

Gary Barron

Dear Garry,

Thank you for inviting B'nai Portland to participate in MJM's Current and Past Congregations exhibit. I've attached a write-up for you to consider. B'nai Portland is a congregation without walls, in that we don't own a building. Other than that, I feel we've provided content that aligns well with your request. Feel free to reply to this message if there are questions or if there is additional detail you need.

Regards,
