A summer of healthy fun and lively learning

Camp Lown offers children a world of fun and learning in an informal atmosphere which stresses the individuality of each youngster.

Summer is the time of year when young people should come into close contact with the beauty of nature. At Camp Lown, the marvels of Belgrade Lakes and the Maine countryside provide ideal surroundings for such experiences.

At Camp Lown, children participate in a full range of water sports and athletic activities—under the guidance of trained specialists.

While avoiding the emphasis on competition, the Camp Lown athletic program stresses the challenge of self-improvement and the fun of physical activities.

Through a full program of arts and crafts, dramatics, and music the camper is exposed to creative moments, in which new interests are often developed. Instruction as well as opportunities for self-expression make these activities a valuable part of the Camp Lown program.

Through Camp Lown's religious and cultural activities, children learn to appreciate the significance of the Jewish heritage and to find joy and meaning in Jewish living.

In study and discussion groups, experienced staff members (and former campers) share with our young people the traditions of the Jewish People—encouraging children to develop their own thinking on vital issues.

Judaism comes alive at Camp Lown—in meaningful worship services, informal discussions, experiences in modern Israeli singing, dance, and drama and a sharing in the beauty of "Shabbat" at camp.

Camp Lown has earned a well-deserved reputation for its fine cuisine and absolute commitment to good health. Food is always abundant in the Camp Lown Dining Hall and "milk and cookies" are served every afternoon.

The resident infirmary staff rigorously supervises all aspects of the "Good Health Program" at Camp Lown.
